MegaPhase and NorthStar Foundation Raise Awareness and Funds
For Wounded Warrior Project® and Autism Speaks®

Stroudsburg, PA – May 24, 2011 – The NorthStar Foundation, a charity founded by MegaPhase CEO Bill Pote, hosted a Kentucky Derby party and fundraiser to benefit two charities that have special meaning to MegaPhase and Mr. Pote, the Wounded Warrior Project and Autism Speaks. This year's event not only raised awareness but also over $12,000 to be split evenly by the charities. Over 100 guests contributed to support these important causes.

"Every day the MegaPhase Team is honored to work with customers, suppliers and our Team Members whose lives are affected by disabilities" observes Pote. "Working with wounded veterans and families who care for children challenged by autism have inspired us to contribute and help any way." The NorthStar Foundation was founded specifically to support those with disabilities, especially wounded veterans returning from overseas contingency operations, and developmentally disabled children and adults.

It has long been a tradition at MegaPhase to work with and protect the Warfighter since it's rugged, field-proven RF cables are used in the critical electronic warfare and force protection systems. Among many applications, over 200,000 of MegaPhase's Warrior Cables® are fielded on vehicles, including HMMV, MRAP and Stryker, in overseas contingency operations.

"MegaPhase cables provide reliable signal processing in systems that locate and jam radio-controlled roadside bombs, known as improvised explosive devices (IEDs)" explains Pote. "With IED's responsible for nearly 2/3 of our heroes wounded in action or killed in action, it is critically important that our Warfighters have the necessary equipment to protect their lives and come home to their families safely."

The Kentucky Derby party included a bounce house and pony rides for the children, and many of the guests came dressed in their Kentucky Derby finest, sporting wide brim hats and seersucker jackets. The upbeat crowd enjoyed good barbecue, live music and good cheer.

Notable contributors include the Turgeon family, MegaPhase, ERG, Obvious Inc, Sentry Insurance, John Serafin of FNCB Bank, Lisa Earl-Sperry, Click Happi Photography, Maria Jaramillo

and contributions made in the memory of Robert Cuccinelli. "Our appreciation goes out to all who supported the benefit and these worthy causes," Pote states.
